Calculating Plan Costs

Are you using Frequent Flyer points for your tickets?

You cannot insure the value of the tickets because they were earned with points instead of dollars; however, if you prepay any fees to use the points those fees are insurable, but you can insure for the cost of a one-way ticket home, in the event of an interruption. To calculate this, determine the approximate cost of airfare from the furthest point of your trip to return home, and add that cost to your prepaid land or cruise fees. This is the total cost to be insured.

How do I determine how much to insure?

1. Take the cost of the travel arrangements (include the cost of your air tickets if non-refundable);
2. Deduct the cost of travel arrangements NOT subject to cancellation charges or restrictions; and
3. To be eligible for the Cancel For Any Reason Benefit (when available), you must pay your premium within 15 days of the date of the initial deposit/payment for your trip; insure 100% of the cost of all Travel Arrangements that are subject to cancellation penalties.

The three items listed above indicate the total trip cost to be insured.

What if I don't want to insure the entire amount?

For example, if your trip costs $2,085 per person, and you only want to purchase coverage for $1,500, you need to know that the maximum you will be paid for a Trip Cancellation claim will be limited to the trip cost insured and you will not be eligible for the Cancel For Any Reason Benefit.

Important Things to Remember:

- A. If you are to receive a refund of any portion of your trip costs up to the time of departure and that amount is deducted from the prepaid trip costs, you do not need to insure that portion of the trip.
- B. If you will lose 100% of prepaid costs within the last few days prior to departure, the full trip cost should be the amount insured.

Can I insure the voucher I received for future travel?

No, vouchers may not be insured.
